SUMMARY

I graduated from Atılım University, Department of Software Engineering. I have work experience and extensive training in software design and development. I act according to strong business ethics and correct communication strategies in team or individual environments to increase product success and process efficiency. With our analytical thinking, I am improving myself in troubleshooting, problem solving and professional time management. If you ask me, the trait I value most in myself is ambition, because I never give up on things and continue to the end without giving up on learning.
